

Art week 6:

Describing the Hydra.

Hydra is a nine headed dragon of monstrous proportions. Razor sharp scales cover its slippery body which glisten with deadly poison. Nine serrated jaws furiously snap and terrorise its victim whilst one long lashing tail swishes about angrily behind. Inside each of the terrifying heads is a large lizard-like forked tongue. Nine headed screams deafen it's victims before they can see him. Shockingly, if you cut one head off, two more will grow back in its place!

Your task is to;

- Draw a picture of The Hydra and colour him in.
- Label the features of the Hydra.
- Writing some descriptive sentences underneath.
