Queensgate Foundation Primary School

Royal Themed Mufti Day on Friday

Dear Families,

Bank Holidays

There are two bank holidays coming up. One on Monday 1st May and one the following Monday on Monday 8th May. Queensgate will be closed on both of these bank holidays.

Strike Action

The National Education Union is again calling their members to strike on Tuesday 2nd May. This is due to a continued dispute about pay and funding to schools. I anticipate that Queensgate will remain open as normal.

Visit from Al Sylvester

On Thursday 4th May Al Sylvester will be visiting Queensgate.

Al regularly runs workshops for school pupils of all ages. Having worked over the past four years in the education sector, he thoroughly enjoys sharing his experiences of survival in extreme cold temperatures. He describes how his team survived in tents on Antarctica for seven weeks while skiing unsupported the 600 nautical miles to the Geographic South Pole. He makes many comparisons of the extreme differences between his team and that of Sir Ernest Shackleton and Sir Robert Falcon Scott. He concludes his presentation by reliving the effects that frostbite had on him and the mental resilience he displayed to recover, to once again lead by example.

In addition, Al displays the actual gear he wore during his mammoth journey across Antarctica and provides the opportunity for someone to dress up as an explorer, providing some priceless photo opportunities.

Each workshop is concluded with a no holds barred question and answer session, putting Al on the spot to any lateral question that the pupils may ask.

Al will be working with Year 5 regarding his South Pole presentation to fit in with their work about Shackleton and Year 6 with his Himalayan presentation. Both sessions will include motivational speaking, dressing up and question and answer sessions.

Royal Themed Mufti Day

On Friday 5th May the children are welcome to come to school in royal themed mufti. This may involve dressing as a King or a Queen or a Prince or a Princess. It might involve colours like red, white and blue, purple or have a Union Flag theme. It is completely up to you.

In school the children have learnt a Coronation Song. Ask them about it – they may sing it to you! We will be meeting as a school next Friday to sing the Coronation Song and our school choir will also be sharing their Coronation Song with us. There is also a picnic lunch on the field if the weather is fine.

Our school choir have been invited to St Mary's Church in Cowes for a special King's Coronation service on Sunday 7th May. They need to arrive at 5 pm and will need to be picked up at 7 pm.

Tracy Reardon, the Mayor of East Cowes, will be joining us on Tuesday 2nd May and will be giving the children a Commemorative Coronation Coin, from the Town Council.

Year 6 SATs Week

Here is a timetable for Year 6 SATs week.

Date	Exam
Tuesday 9 th May 2023	Spelling, Grammar and Punctuation
Wednesday 10 th May 2023	Reading
Thursday 11 th May 2023	Maths Paper 1 – Arithmetic and Maths Paper 2 - Reasoning
Friday 12 th May 2023	Maths Paper 3 - Reasoning

It is paramount that the children get a good night's sleep the night before their exams. Breakfast is provided in school at 8am. This is really good for the children. They come into school at 8am, enjoy breakfast together and have some chats and fun. I recommend this to all Year 6 pupils. It's free too!

Out & About

The RAB Out and About team had a fantastic morning on Tuesday, learning all about different types of transport. The children went to Ryde to spot lots of modes of transport, including catamarans, ferries, taxis, buses, followed by a ride on the electric train! The children travelled to Brading, where they listened to train stories whilst having snack and waiting for their return train. They especially enjoyed going through tunnels and under bridges. The children met the conductor who kindly showed them where the driver sits and how he drives the train using levers and buttons. They were very sensible and well behaved when changing platforms and boarding/disembarking the train.

The children in Year 5 are learning about Space this term. On Tuesday afternoon the Out and About group visited Bonchurch to take part in the Stokey's Solar System Trail, walking along the revetment towards Ventnor. The children were all very enthusiastic, running to the next planet (information board) and taking it in turns to read facts about each planet. We compared the size of the planets, scaled down, using a variety of different sports balls. The children worked well as a team and were a credit to Queensgate, well done!

The Year 4 Out and About children (that didn't attend the residential) had great fun playing at Appley sand park and then walked along the seafront to play at Puckpool park on Wednesday morning. They set up a cafe in the sand park and huddled up inside the shelter for hot chocolate and a snack.

On Wednesday afternoon the 6LR Out and About team went Geocaching around Merstone old railway station and surrounding farmland. The children were able to bring their mobile phones and worked together to find different caches around the area. Using the Geocaching app, they used GPS navigation and followed 'hints' to locate the caches, recording the date and group name within each log book.

Our Out and About Club visited Quarr Abbey on Wednesday afternoon. The group loved seeing and feeding the pigs and piglets, including some tiny ones that were less than 2 days old.

Dragonfly: Impact Education

Did you know?

Resilience isn't something people are born with, and it's not something they're given. It's something people build - but they need to be given the tools to build it with. If a person is not given these tools in the formative years, that doesn't mean they can't learn them later.

Try these tools to either build your own resilience or to help children develop their resilience. Children will need to see this modelled and they will need you to do the questioning to start with. Eventually, they will internalise your voice.

Collect tools

Create a 'collection' of useful questions to ask yourself or things to do when something feels difficult or you feel 'stuck'. For example: What would [someone you respect] do? What's worked before? How can I break the problem into smaller pieces? What are 3 simple things I could do to help myself right now?

List as many ideas as you can in 2 minutes - even the daft ones, let your brain free flow creatively and see what comes out!

Relationships first

Human beings are hard wired for connection. Close relationships can counter the effects of stress (which over time can lower levels of resilience).

Sharing problems can help to put things into perspective for us and allow unhelpful thinking patterns to be challenged.

It's important to see the strength in asking for help - being brave and resilient does not mean facing things alone.

③

Give credit

We often dwell on what we've not done rather than what we have. At the end of each day, make a 'done' list.

Acknowledge your strengths and give yourself credit for the effort you put into difficult things.

By working to overcome problems to achieve something you found hard, you develop a feeling of mastery. This makes you less likely to be reactive to future stress and more likely to handle future challenges.

School Council trip

On Wednesday 19th April, the school council visited the RSPCA. It is located at the Animal Centre, Godshill, Ventnor, PO38 3NA. RSPCA stands for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals

We went to see what the animal centre was about and understand why it is important to raise money for them. Whilst we were there, we saw cats, rabbits and ferrets. Unfortunately, we were unable to see any dogs because some were new and they needed time to settle.

Each animal has a fact file on them. They all have a colour rating of red amber or green. A red colour may mean the animal has a higher chance of biting or scratching. Amber means they could be shy and would need a calm home environment. Green is harmless. It is important not to judge the animals on these colour ratings as they can be trained and when matched to a suitable home environment can settle very well.

It was really interesting to hear that the animals listen to music. Did you know that cats and dogs like classical musical and rabbits and guinea pigs like pop music?

You are able to volunteer at the RSPCA when you are 16. You can only work with cats, guinea pigs and rabbits. At 18 you can work there and throughout your career you will have the opportunity to work with all of the animals.

The staff and volunteers at the RSPCA look after the animals but they need money to buy food and supplies. They told us that the most expensive thing is cat litter. When an animal is adopted their new owner makes a small contribution but this does not cover the cost for caring for the animals.

It is really important to help to raise money for this amazing charity so they can continue their fabulous work.

Animal Themed Mufti Day Friday 26th May 2023

Following our visit to the RSPCA, the school council are organising an animal themed mufti day to fundraise for our local rescue centre.

Please send your child to school in animal themed mufti with a donation of at least 50p for the Isle of Wight RSPCA.

The school council suggest you could dress up as an animal, wear animal print clothes or even wear clothes that have pictures of animals on.

Our Friend Lucia Para!

Lucia did some work experience with us in Reception last year, and still volunteers when she can in Reception (especially on Patch days!) Lucia is an amazing artist and she has now illustrated some story books. Below is some detail on the book and some photos of her illustrations.

Storyquests are projects funded by the Arts Council through the National Literacy Trust, and aim to help families engage with their local environment, in a way that is friendly to their little ones. This one is part of three stories dedicated to our Biosphere.

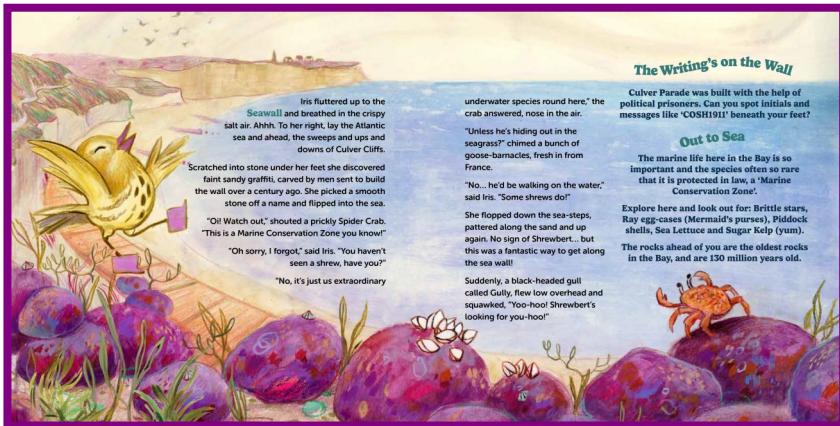

"A Trail with two...tails- Shrewbert and Iris & Iris and Shrewbert" is a 28 page children's book that explores Sandown Bay and the creatures that live in it, and it will be free to pick up from Sandown Library from the 24th June (date of the official launch).

Children will find the most interesting story of two unlikely and funny friends and follow them while they look for each other for a day out, ending up on Science Beach, while meeting so many interesting creatures and making discoveries on their way!

Activities in nature and interesting words, ways to listen and learn are all surrounded by the most colourful images by Lucia.

A shrew never visits the sea, and a rock pipit never goes inland... so this friendship is a reminder to try new things to discover all the wonders they can bring!

Keep an eye on the interesting colour and how they mix at the end...as sea and land do on our wonderful Island!

The Writing's on the Wall

Culver Parade was built with the help of political prisoners. Can you spot initials and messages like 'COSH1911' beneath your feet?

Out to Sea

The rock life in Sandown Bay is so important and its species are so rare that it is protected in law, a 'Marine Conservation Zone'. Explore here and look out for: Brittle stars, Ray egg-cases (Mermaid's purses), Piddock shells, Sea Lettuce and Sugar Kelp (yum). The rocks ahead of you are the oldest rocks in the Bay, and are 130 million years old.

Skipping Week

As part of this week's skipping week, all children were challenged on Monday to do some skipping through the week. Another part of the challenge was to see if we could have all of KS2 skipping together as a group on Thursday. The children rose to the challenge: some children skipped with individual ropes, some without ropes, some children did pair skipping and some were skipping in groups on a long rope. To help get the children moving, we even had the boombox and DJ Roxy providing some background music. All children participated really well and it was great to see the whole keystage involved in a joint activity. Reception did their own challenge, counting their skips and recording this on a chalk board.

Attendance

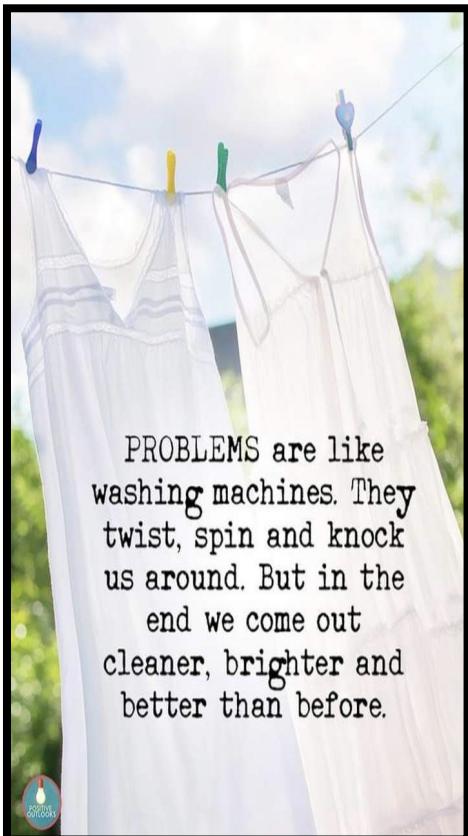

Whole School Attendance since September is 93.89%

Whole School Attendance this week is 94.14%

KS1 Class with best attendance this week is RAB with 94.14%

KS2 Class with best attendance this week is 3AH with 98.15%

It's a four day week next week, let's see how many 100% we can get!

Netball Finals

On Tuesdays 25th April, the Year 6 Netball team travelled to Cowes Enterprise College to take part in the Stingers Netball Finals. We played our hardest against six other schools from across the Island to make Queensgate proud. We finished the finals in joint 6th place and after working out goal difference, came 7th overall.

We were up against some really tough teams, but we did not let this stop us fighting until the very end.

And finally...

Have a wonderful bank holiday weekend. Remember to chat, read and play together and we look forward to seeing all the children again on Tuesday 2nd May.

Best wishes,

Samantha Sillito
